School Walkthroughs

During the past 5 weeks ELD Department has been visiting schools in order to provide supports needed for our emergent bilinguals. We would like to recognize the following teachers/coaches for providing our students with effective instructional practices that promote language development and academic learning:

Glenn Sands: Math teacher at Lester Arnold High School. Mr. Sands provides multiple supports for his students: sentence stems, visuals, structured academic discourse among others.

Siri Amster: Second grade teacher at Monaco Elementary. Ms. Amster effectively differentiates instruction for her students according to language proficiencies; not only during ELD but her math class.

Enrique Guerrero: ELD teacher at Kearny Middle School. Mr. Guerrero goes far and beyond. He tutors students after and before school to provide his students multiple opportunities to access language.

Joaquin Reyes: Third grade teacher at Central Elementary. Mr. Reyes has taken the task to instruct second, third, fourth and fifth grade students in their native language: Spanish. Way to go!

Shelby Perez: ELD teacher/Coach at Central Elementary. Ms. Perez, a true advocate for bilingual education. She provides supports to Central Community to ensure our emergent bilinguals have access to content and language development.
